Art Unit: 3722

1. Substitute drawings are required in response to this Office action. The drawings as originally filed are of quite poor quality, such that it is extremely difficult to discern any details in the drawings.

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The Brief Description of the Drawings section should discuss figures 2 though 5 separately and individually.

Appropriate correction is required.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Scholz et al. Figure 4 shows two frustum cutters 17, 19, which are located at different skew angles relative to the axis of rotation of the tool. Head 2, 12, has axial flute portions 4 which feed into a helical flute formed at 13 and leading to the rear of the tool.

5. Claim 2, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. On line 3 of claim 2 and lines 18-19 of claim 8, the phrase “and one of said first and said second axial extending flute” is clearly incomplete. It is not clear how the plane or cutting portions of claim 7 extend relative to the central axis.

6. Claim 8 is objected to because of the following informalities: Lines 7-11 of claim 8 should be amended with commas at the appropriate locations in order to more clearly set forth the individual concepts. Appropriate correction is required.
7. Claims 1-4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rumpp et al. As seen in figure 3, frustum cutters 5 are located at the same skew angle relative to the axis of rotation. Flutes 6, 10, in the outer portion of the head 2 and helical ribs 9 convey cuttings in the direction of the shank (column 2, lines 47-53). Figure 2 shows the cutters 5 are diametrically opposed. As seen from figure 3, the frustum cutters extend slightly outward from the periphery of the tool.
8. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Page 3 of the specification and claim 7 state that the cutters have cutting portions which lie in planes perpendicular to the central axis. It is not clear exactly how this configuration appears.
9. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the particular configuration of the cutters as set forth in claim 7 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended.

Art Unit: 3722

The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.
